	Cover	Models of four of the structures referred to in Professor Riemschneider's article. They are made from the Courtauld atomic models (marketed by Griffin and George Ltd.). The upper two molecules show the endo-anti (left) and the endo-syn (right) isomers of thiodan. The lower two models are of the aldrin structure. On the left is aldrin itself with the endo-exo configuration while on the right we have the more sterically hindered endo-endo configuration of isodrin. To aid identification each chlorine or hydrogen atom attached to a doubly bonded carbon atom is distinguished by a blue spot. Chlorine is green, hydrogen silver, carbon black, sulphur yellow and oxygen white. (Photograph by M. B. Payne)
